14:15 15:15		 Advocacy in different countries ▲ Civil Society Organisations play a dear and important role in public governance. These organisations hold the key to enhance democracy in decision making processes and in inter and intra governmental negotiations. This session will discuss the role and responsibilities of civil society organisations around the world when it comes to cycling. The presentations will focus on past and ongoing developments and solutions for a better position of Cycling Advocacy in public governance. DateTue 13/6 14:15-15:15ThemeGovernanceFormatLecture LocationBrown Room (Vereeniging)ModeratorVictor Andrade ●Speaker(s)Carlosfelipe Pardo, Wim Bot, Mikael Van Eeckhoudt, Daniel Guth ●								 Save this session
14:15 15:15		 Creating Advocacy Leaders ▲ This session is meant to offer training and strategic advice on creating advocacy leaders. What are the policy initiatives that help build sustainable organisations? How can organisations develop successful campaigns or diversify their fundraising income? What is the best way to build relationships with the industry and secure engagement from individuals and businesses? This unique session will bring together expert speakers from around the world and offer examples from different schemes, methodologies and geographical locations. Follow up will include an online resource center. Don't miss this if you are a cycling advocate looking to grow your organisational impact. DateTue 13/6 14:15-15:15ThemePeopleFormatRound table discussion LocationBlue Room (Vereeniging)ModeratorElina BaltatzSpeaker(s)Randy Neufeld, Ze Lobo, ● Martha Roskowski								 Save this session
15:30 16:30		 Social Inclusion ▲ How can cycling help as a tool for an inclusive society? Not everyone is able to purchase a bike, nor is it common in some slums or underprivileged neighbourhoods to ride a bike. In this session you can discuss how you can stimulate social inclusion by biking, for example distributing secondhand bicycles, educating young people from slums to be bike mechanics or teach people to ride their bikes safely. DateTue 13/6 15:30-16:30ThemePeopleFormatRound table discussion LocationBlack Room (Schouwburg)ModeratorJorn WemmenhoveSpeaker(s)Daniel Morris, Marileia Seixas ● Pinto, Murilo Casagrande ● Modolo, Sarah Imm, Tim Mosdell, Hugo Steenhoven								 Save this session
15:30 16:30		 The Benefits of Cycle Tourism at a Local Level ▲ This session brings together four quite diverse examples that demonstrate the many positive impacts that cycle tourism can have on the local level. It will look at the relationship between cycling for recreation and for transport and also how local communities can utilise long distance cycle routes that pass through their area. From using recreational routes for multipurpose mobility in Quebec, to diversifying the tourism offer for city breaks in France. And from using cycle tourism as a gateway to wider use of the bicycle for mobility in Brazil to convincing Danes that their bicycle can be used for recreation as well as transport in the cycling city of Copenhagen. DateTue 13/6 15:30-16:30ThemeBikenomicsFormatLecture LocationBrown Room (Vereeniging)ModeratorHenk MariusSpeaker(s)Anne-Julie Dubois, Dorothé Franke, Luiz Saldanha, Marie Kåstrup ●								 Save this session
17:00 18:00		PLENARY SESSION People ▲ People and Cycling are the centre of our discussion. This session will approach the freedom of movement: the power in being able to move - in both a physical and geographical sense - leading to a discussion on the right to movement, accessibility and how cycling can enable this. Our renowned speakers will dissect the human factor of cycling from physiology to the social aspects of it with focus on social and gender inclusion in different economic and social contexts. DateTue 13/6 17:00-18:00ThemePeopleFormatPlenary session LocationRed Room (Vereeniging)ModeratorConny CzymochSpeaker(s)Maria Hopman, Clarisse ● Linke, Martha Roskowski								 Save this session

10:30 11:30		 Institutional arrangements for cycling: Challenges in Latin American cities ▲ An increasing number of Latin American cities are planning for cycling. Several of these are ready to become intermediate cycling cities with cycle use above 5%. To achieve this, institutional development and a more integrated approach to cycle planning is needed. In this session we explore succesful institutional arrangements such as Plans and Policies, Institutional structure and Capacity building as applied in Rotterdam, Dublin, Portland and Seville (Spain). What can Bogota, Mexico-city, Rio de Janeiro and Rosario (Arg.) learn from these experiences and from each other, and how can they make the next step in becoming a cycling-inclusive city? DateWed 14/6 10:30-11:30ThemeGovernanceFormatLecture LocationBlue Room (Vereeniging)ModeratorJeroen BuisSpeaker(s)Jeroen Buis, Ze Lobo, ● Damien Ó Tuama, Liliana Gonzalez								 Save this session
10:30 11:30		 Extending the Reach: Combining Bicycle and Train ▲ Combining bicycles and public transport can provide a seamless door-to-door transport service. In the Netherlands, a successful approach to combining these modes has been developed, particularly aimed at commuting trips, which is now being exported elsewhere in Europe and beyond. This project will look at the essential ingredients of the 'Dutch Model' , assess how it can be applied in different contexts and also consider how it can be improved further. DateWed 14/6 10:30-11:30ThemeUrban planningFormatLecture LocationWhite Room (Vereeniging)ModeratorDaniel MourekSpeaker(s)Bruno van Zeebroeck, Bram Nieuwstraten, Claudia Ramirez ●								 Save this session

10:30 11:30		 Profile of Cyclists ▲ Who are the people that regularly use a bicycle and what are their needs? Which groups do not cycle and why not? Surveys from different countries demonstrate chances for raising bicycle use among different groups instead of flogging a dead horse. DateThu 15/6 10:30-11:30ThemePeopleFormatLecture LocationGreen Room (Vereeniging)ModeratorSarah ImmSpeaker(s)Anita Stienstra, Gabriela ● Binatti, Sofie Walschap, Shravan Shah								 Save this session
10:30 11:30		 Planning Based on Studies: creating a Cycling Network in Beginner Countries ▲ In order to put building of cycling infrastructure on the agenda, acquired data can help reasoning the necessity of it. In Brazil the NGO Ciclo Urbano produced new information to base the improvement to a Cycling Transit System on. In India the guidelines available do not speak of exclusive bicycle facilities. A study was carried out to better understand the flow of bicycle traffic, in combination to motorised traffic. The situation in Cape Town South Africa is such that cyclists adapt their routes avoiding high risk areas. A study shows recommendations to government and civil society how to improve this situation. DateThu 15/6 10:30-11:30ThemeUrban planningFormatLecture LocationBlue Room (Vereeniging)ModeratorJeroen BuisSpeaker(s)Manuelle Saturnino, Rajat ● Rastogi								 Save this session
15:30 16:30		 Inspiring Cyclists of Tomorrow ▲ Children are great ambassadors for cycling! We can help them and ourselves by implementing bikes in schools, co-creating a bicycle habitat and culture, encouraging community participation and children's autonomy, fighting childhood obesity, organising traffic examinations and lowered speed limits. Great stories from Denmark, New Zealand, Brazil, the United States, Canada and the Netherlands. DateThu 15/6 15:30-16:30ThemePeopleFormatPecha Kucha LocationRed Room (Vereeniging)ModeratorJoof TummersSpeaker(s)Bas Breman, Ana Maria ● Nascimento Destri, Paul Mcardle, Emma Newman, ● Tomás Petti Martins, Nancy Smith Lea, Klaus Bondam								 Save this session
FRIDAY
10:30 11:30		EXTERNAL SESSION UN-Habitat Session: Creating a cycling culture in bike-unfriendly environments ▲ Urban centers need to promote non-motorized transport – not only to ensure accessibility to opportunities for all, but also to achieve environmental benefits, increased safety and reduced traffic congestion. Cities in the developing world are illustrating a growing interest in implementing cycling infrastructure and facilities. The session proposes to look at examples from the Global South – and will discuss best practices on promoting cycling in challenging environments. Case studies will come from: Hyderabad (India), Nairobi (Kenya) and Bogotá (Colombia). From shared public bicycles to cycling masterplans, this session will have a look at what it means to create cycling culture in bike-unfriendly environments. DateFri 16/6 10:30-11:30ThemeFormatExternal session LocationBlue Room (Vereeniging)ModeratorLake SagarisSpeaker(s)Carlosfelipe Pardo, Dharmin Dontamsetti, Andre Dzikus, Ze Lobo ●								 Save this session
10:30 11:30		 Cycling as a tool for a more equitable and inclusive society ▲ Cycling can be a means for a more equitable and inclusive society. However, bicycle use, cycling advocacy and governance are not neutral. Some groups in society are more involved than others. And some profit more from investments than others. In this speed date session we will delve into the questions 'what systematic differences can be identified in different contexts?', 'what do these similarities tell us?', 'what can we learn from that?' and 'what can we do to make progress?'. One example is the systematic under representation of women using bicycles, in cycling advocacy, and amongst professionals and researchers. If you want to present in this session, fitting to the description, you can subscribe at the programme desk (maximum of 15 speakers in one session) DateFri 16/6 10:30-11:30ThemePeopleFormatSpeed dating LocationOrange Room (Schouwburg)ModeratorAngela van der KloofSpeaker(s)Leticia Lindenberg Lemos, ● Peter Cox, Isabelle Clement								 Save this session
11:45 12:45		 Cycling is Political: Influencing Elections ▲ How to use elections or organise a referendum to put cycling on the agenda. And if commitment is organised: how do you maintain it? Practical ways to keep on track. DateFri 16/6 11:45-12:45ThemeGovernanceFormatLecture LocationRed Room (Vereeniging)ModeratorKlaus BondamSpeaker(s)Andy Mulholland, Camille Thomé, Dirk von Schneidemesser, Guilherme Lara Tampieri ●								 Save this session
11:45 12:45		 Effective cycling governance from an executive perspective ▲ Good governance models are key to seamless development of cycling. Therefore, different government bodies need to be aligned for cycling projects to be implemented in an effective manner. On this note, we invite chief executives of municipalities and other governmental sectors to discuss their role in cycling governance and how governance can vary depending on different governmental structures. DateFri 16/6 11:45-12:45ThemeGovernanceFormatLecture LocationYellow Room (Schouwburg)ModeratorClarisse Linke ●Speaker(s)Floor Vermeulen, Owen Keegan, Geert Ritsema, Miklos Berencsi , Michiel Scheffer, Lim Dong Guk								 Save this session
